

FARMHOUSE MATOPOS

JANUARY - MARCH 2022 Newsletter #5

As the rainy season comes to an end, the trees are green, the bush is lush and the animals are fat! Our last baby of the season was a little zebra foal, whose mom was quite proud of herself and loves showing her little one off. Now the dry season starts and we hope it's a short one!

CAMERA TRAP SIGHTS

We love bringing in our camera traps and seeing what new things have been caught on camera. Recently we have sighted a few hyena and leopards doing their thing at night while we were all fast asleep!

ANTI-POACHING DOGS

The training of anti-poaching dogs has been resumed at Farmhouse. There are 14 dogs on the property currently, learning to track and catch poachers. These dogs will be used all over

Zimbabwe to assist in anti-poaching efforts.

INUNGU

This hill is said to resemble a porcupine, hence the name Inungu. It is a somewhat challenging climb, and the view is well worth it. At the crest of this hill stands a large cross, which is quite something to see, and pondering on the fact that it was all brought up by the same path you just climbed makes the mind boggle. It is recommended to take a guide with to climb Inungu.

SPECIAL OFFER

Farmhouse is still charging a special local rate of US60 per adult sharing per night for dinner, bed and breakfast, and only US75 per adult sharing per night for SADC guests.
